

Severe Weather Policy

Pitt-Bradford's general severe weather policy is to remain open, except in the most extreme circumstances. University faculty, staff and students are urged to use their own discretion in deciding whether they can safely commute to class or work. Faculty are advised to be as accommodating as is reasonable when students miss class because of severe weather conditions.

Public announcements will be communicated to area radio and TV stations for broadcast regarding any official closures or delays no later than 6:15 a.m. If severe weather commences later in the day, public announcements of class cancellations or campus closure will be made as quickly as possible. Information on weather-related cancellations will be posted on the University home page and shared on Pitt-Bradford's social media accounts, including Facebook, Instagram and X. Information on weather-related cancellations also will be communicated to registered subscribers of the University's Emergency Notification System by voice messaging, text messaging, or both, depending on the subscriber's preference.
